Serendipity Center Welcomes Everyone!

October is Bullying Prevention Month!
Here are ways that YOU can help combat bullying:

- ◆ Make friends with someone you don't know
- ◆ Challenge others to be kind
- ◆ Don't ignore bullying. Stand up for people who are being bullied
- ◆ Don't judge others
- ◆ Use kind words

Staff at Serendipity work hard to prevent bullying at school by creating policies and rules about bullying, building a safe environment through a culture of acceptance, tolerance and respect, and by educating students and staff. A new image you may have seen around the school is this poster, which describes that at Serendipity everyone is welcome, no matter who you are or who you are becoming.

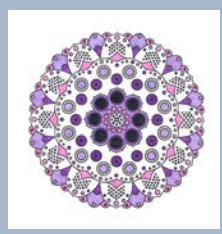

The Equity Committee is a group of staff that meets every other week after school. The mission of the Equity Enrichment Team is to aim to provide a safe atmosphere to openly express, discuss and make positive changes toward diversity. We strive to enhance our school community's ability to recognize, respect, respond and empower differing perspectives and life experiences."

If you have any questions or suggestions for the Equity Enrichment Team, please contact Destiny, who is the team leader.

Dear Students,

Thank you for a great first month at Serendipity. I have been very impressed by how smooth arrival has been this year and that you are all getting ready to learn in the morning. The PBIS Parade of School-wide Expectations and our first Safety Week were a success because we worked as a team. I appreciate that everyone is working together on learning school appropriate coping strategies to improve safe behavior, following your schedule, and learning.

- Thanks, Megan

This money can only be used at Derek's store. Because it has my face on it. It is the first and only two hundred dollar in existence.

"Okay class; let's continue where we left off last week, we're learning to control our powers." Mr. Killian the werewolf teacher said, "Angel. Why don't you demonstrate what you learned last week? Remember class, this is for class only. We do NOT use powers on each other!"

"Okay" said Angel the bunny-person. Angel stood up and walked to the front of the class. Angel pushed back her hair behind her bunny ears and get into position. Angel closed her big, honey eyes and brought her hands together. Suddenly a perfect water ball was beginning to form! She opened her eyes and aimed the ball at a huge target on the wall, hitting it in the bulls-eye.

Caught in the Moment

The moments that make Serendipity Shine

This new feature of the newsletter, called "caught in the moment" will spotlight moments where students and staff were caught on camera being safe, respectful and responsible.
